ALICE Training Set for March 14

ALICE is an active shooter response program that consists of awareness and communication strategies and response option strategies. A training session is scheduled for 9 a.m.-1 p.m., Tuesday, March 14. The awareness and communication strategies consist of situational awareness and alerting others. Situational awareness is your perception of your environment and how you comprehend and respond to that environment. Alert is the information you provide to others so they can choose the best strategy for their own safety.

ALICE training empowers all citizens with the skills and knowledge to respond when shots are fired. During this training, we will discuss how we can increase survivability by empowering all of you to participate in your own survival. We will look at situational and environmental awareness along with the options to use to respond to an alert. This training will help prepare for a Violent Critical Incident (VCI). This course has been designed with trauma informed training in mind. Learning the ALICE strategy is extremely important for all of us who work in an education setting, as many tragic active shooter events have been becoming more and more prevalent in today's schools.

Sign up online for the training. The class will include drills and scenarios, so will last about four hours. The class is only offered in person and registration is imperative as the class has limited seats. If you have any questions, contact Assistant Public Safety Supervisor Ashley Macarski at amacarski@lccc.edu.

REMINDERS

Employee Resource Group Kick Off Meeting

As we continue to identify ways to better support and foster inclusion and belonging for employees at LCCC, we are seeking your participation in a discussion about creating employee resource groups.

The purpose of the groups is to provide interested LCCC employees a place to gather with others of common affinity or identity such as Hispanic/Latinx, LGBTQ+, African American, and/or others, as identified by the college community. The intention is to provide an avenue by which employees have greater opportunity to build a support system, participate in discussions about meaningful topics and share resources.

Participation is completely voluntary and not supervised or led by the institution. The college will support group meeting time during work hours.

Please join me from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m., Wednesday, March 22 in room 113B of the Student Services Center for more discussion on the concept, ground rules for strengthening the initiative and other constructive ideas bring the college together.

If you have any questions prior to the meeting, please contact Donna Williams at dwilliams@lccc.edu.

Blood Drive at LCCC on Wednesday, March 8

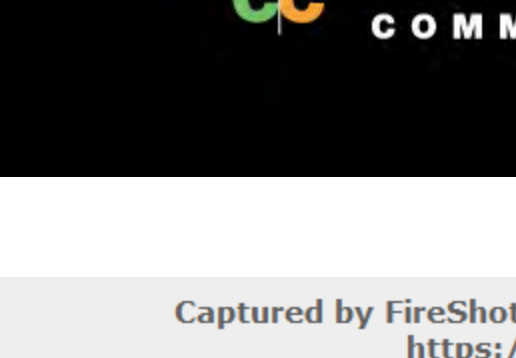

We will be holding a blood drive in partnership with Miller-Keystone Blood Center on Wednesday, March 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

This will be our first on-campus blood drive since July of 2021 and we are excited to bring this vital, life-saving community service event back to our campus community. Blood donations from this event will stay in our local communities to assist with blood needed for accident victims, cancer patients, and patients needing blood transfusions. The blood supply continues to be at critically low levels and with donations down across the state, these events are extremely important to help maintain and replenish the blood supply.

We are looking to fill all of our allotted appointments in advance and you can schedule an appointment by calling 800-223-6667 Ext. 2 and mention Group # 5935 or by clicking here. You can also access this by clicking on "StART" in the LCCC portal under Faculty/Staff Resources. In addition to filing this report, if the circumstances also include a threat of violence or harm to a member of the college community, you should also report that to Public Safety by calling 610-789-1169 as soon as possible. Honors College Hosts Prof. Grant-Friedman for Talk on the Ukraine War

The Honors College is hosting a talk by Prof. Andrea Grant-Friedman titled One Year of the Ukraine War: "Tobogganing towards disaster with eyes closed."

The Russia-Ukraine war is entering its second year, with no end in sight. The conflict is rapidly and dangerously escalating. Sixteen million Ukrainians have been displaced, much of the country's infrastructure laid waste, and tens of thousands of young Ukrainian and Russian men maimed or sent home in body bags. What has happened over the course of the last 12 months? Why has there been no negotiated solution to a conflict that threatens to explode into World War III? How have Ukrainian, Russian, European and other societies across the globe been impacted? And what might the future hold? Professor Andrea Grant-Friedman will address these and other questions in a half-hour talk, followed by a Q&A session.

The talk will be held on March 6 at 4 p.m. in AC 107-108 and by Zoom Link.

College Employee Information Sessions

Various college service areas will be doing presentations along with question and answer sessions to familiarize new employees with the services their area provides at the college.
